Project Details

When a local home owner wanted to increase the security on their property, they called upon GBIS to design, install and maintain their fully integrated automatic gate, access control and security system. By using their own skilled staff along with a local, established manufacturer, GBIS were able to offer a complete service, specifically designed to meet their clients requirements on design and control.

GBIS designed and installed a top of the range, hassle free solution, which ultimately increased security for the entire family as well as adding real value and desirability to the client's home. Upon handover GBIS ensured that the customer received all relevant instructions and training. The systems installed benefit from 24/7 monitoring and maintenance for that extra peace of mind.
